

I oppose expansion of Low Power FM (LPFM) service in such a way as to allow LPFM stations to take priority over current FM translator service. In particular, I feel current FM translators such as K-LOVE radio provide an important service to residents of the local community here in Amarillo, Texas. If K-LOVE were to be displaced by an LPFM broadcaster providing other service the local community would suffer cultural and religious impoverishment in exchange for the dubious benefit of "local" content. We have plenty of local stations already, and FM translators such as K-LOVE provide an important source of impartial national news and inspiration in our lives.
